

Camera Records BREATH-TAKING MOMENT at Motorcycle Race Track

Coughlin Forces Aid Mrs. Schall

Support of Father Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice has been thrown to Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, above, in her campaign against Gov. Floyd Olson of Minnesota for the U. S. Senate seat of her late husband. Blind Senator Schall was killed by an auto near Washington several months ago.

Ah-h-h! The New Bennett!

JOAN JUST ISN'T HERSELF THESE DAYS, AFTER VISITING MAGICAL MAKEUP MAN

Sets Spanking Pace for Movies

Fight between these two stony Scottie pups you'll find a face for which a Hollywood movie studio has contracted to pay from $400 to $1000 a week for the next six years. Of course, you recognize it! It belongs to mischievous, 7-year-old Spanky McFarland of Our Gang comedies, hair combed and suit pressed—at least while a Los Angeles judge approved the new contract, recently.

Chosen as Japan's New War Minister

Japan's new minister of war in the recently formed cabinet of Premier Koki Hirota is Gen. Toshihazu Terauchi. The war chief was one of the seven army leaders who formerly composed the Nipponese supreme war council.

Flying General in New Post

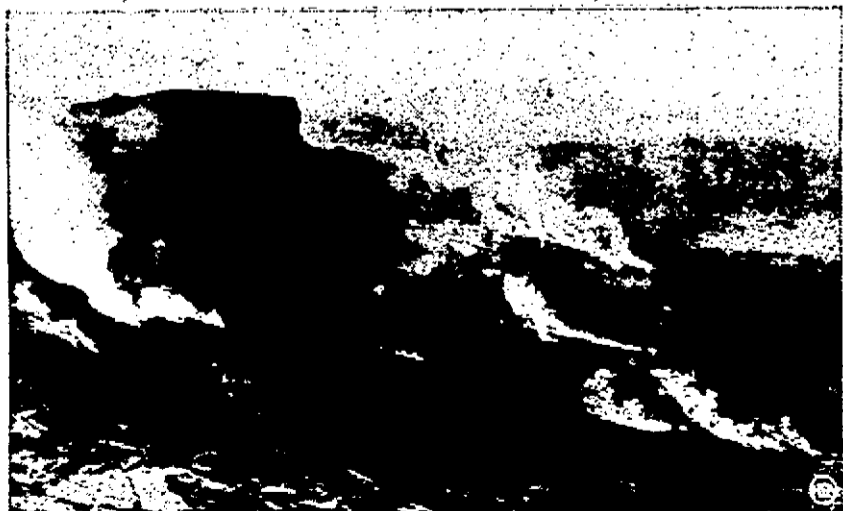

The famed "Flying General," Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, above, has a new command — that of the Third Tactical Army and Eighth Corps, at San Antonio, Tex. Recently returned from the Philippines, General Parker already has commanded the First Division of the A. E. F., in 1918; the Second Tactical Army; the Sixth Corps Area and, recently, in the absence of General Nolan, the Second Corps Area.

Family Carfare Saved by Pigeon

This meek little pigeon is a pretty sight, making her getaway, but she's just a deficit to the Portland, Ore., Street Railway Co. Urban Kubat, 19, above, carries her to work in the morning. He frees her, after tying his weekly car pass to one leg. She flies home and Urban's father uses the pass, again sending the pigeon home. Two other members of the family repeat the act and the traction company just has to like it, losing three fares a day.

Italy's Bombers Blaze Trail Over Ethiopia

Closer and closer to Ethiopia's vital central fastnesses creep the Italian air raids. Harar, principal city in the south and objective of the slow-moving offensive by General Graziani, was rocked by an air bombardment that set many of its flimsy structures ablaze and threw Addis Ababa, the capital, into terror of a similar fate. The plumes of smoke and fire rising from the Ethiopian plain pictured in this remarkable airview mark the trail of destruction blazed by exploding bombs dropped by Italy's marauding airmen.
